Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: Although the Applicants herein argues that Bennett and Giraud show displaying advertisements/promotions on an electronic display, however, Bennett and Giraud do not disclose that the promotions/advertisements are from a remote server remotely located. First, it appears that at least claim 1 does not recite a remote server located remotely from the display. Further, the server, as recited in the claim, is equivalent to or performs the duties of a workstation or terminal. To this end, Bennett discloses displaying promotional messages on an electronic display and it can be assumed therefrom that the electronic display is connected to a terminal/server that feeds it. Additionally, Giraud explicitly discloses a system for displaying on a display screen promotions to prospects, wherein the display screen is coupled to a workstation/server/terminal that feeds up or retrieves the promotions from an associated storage means. Second, contrary to the Applicant's findings, the Examiner submits that there is motivation to combine as featured in the Office Action.
